Objectives:

At the conclusion of this course, the student should be able to:

1. Warm up effectively for auditions and rehearsals.
2. Describe and analyze the steps of the production process.
3. Perform dances in rehearsal applying essential performance skills.
4. Apply principles of dance technique within the context of dance rehearsals.
5. Create dance movement through improvisation as a component of dance-making.
6. Demonstrate the ability to respond appropriately to feedback from a choreographer or director.
7. Comport themselves professionally during auditions, rehearsals, and production meetings.
8. Practice and prepare mentally and physically for rehearsals.
9. Apply strategies to assure a successful performance.

Repeating Students: The choreography will vary widely from semester to semester; therefore, the skills required to meet the demands of the choreography vary offering a new learning experience each semester. Students will deepen and expand their abilities as dance artists with each repetition.

Topics and Scope:

I. Dance Professionalism

II. Auditions

III. Rehearsal Processes

- A. Warming up for rehearsal
- B. Assimilating choreography and adjusting to various choreographic approaches
- C. Application of dance techniques (modern, jazz, hip hop, ballet or other genre as dictated by choreography)
- D. Performance skills in rehearsals
 - 1. performance energy vs. marking
 - 2. maintaining spacing
 - 3. expressive capacities
- E. Applying corrections

IV. Dance-Making Processes such as:

- A. Improvisation and dancer collaboration
- B. Partnering techniques
- C. Working with properties (props) or sets
- D. Movement related to costumes
- E. Dancing with a mask
- F. Use of elements of space, time and energy
- G. Formations and groupings

V. Pre-Production Steps

- A. Fund-raising
- B. Advertising and promotion
- C. Program considerations

VI. Dance Performance Preparation

- A. Techniques for addressing performance anxiety
- B. Techniques for enhancing performance success

Note: The topics and scope covered depend in large part on the nature of the dance pieces in which the student is cast. Dances are never repeated so each experience in Dance Production entails exposure to new material, techniques, movement vocabulary, choreographic approaches, etc.

Repeating students will demonstrate increased depth and breadth of related skills.
