COURSE CONTENT

Student Learning Outcomes:

At the conclusion of this course, the student should be able to:

1. Analyze arguments to identify and explain the claims and premises.
2. Evaluate arguments to determine whether claims are adequately supported.
3. Compose cogent written arguments.

Objectives:

Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Identify arguments.
2. Distinguish arguments from explanations, and from statements of unsupported opinion.
3. Describe the structure of support within an argument.
4. Paraphrase arguments.
5. Distinguish inductive from deductive reasoning.
6. Apply appropriate standards for the evaluation of both inductive and deductive arguments.
7. Apply appropriate standards of informal argument evaluation (recognition of informally fallacious arguments).
8. Design and compose arguments that meet appropriate standards of evaluation.

Assignment:

Assignments for Philosophy 3 vary but typically include the following:

1. Regular reading assignments from course texts and supplementary materials (20-25 pages/week).
2. Quizzes that cover the assigned readings. Quizzes may be either multiple choice or short essays.

3. Homework assignments covering material from the textbook or class discussions and lectures.
4. At least two midterm examinations. Typically students will analyze and evaluate an argument or arguments of types covered in class.
5. A final examination. Students will analyze and evaluate an argument or arguments of types covered in class.
6. Participation in class discussions.

Optional or alternative assignments:

7. Term paper in which students research an issue or topic raised in class and defend a particular position on that issue, typically 8 -10 pages.

Methods of Evaluation/Basis of Grade:

Writing: Assessment tools that demonstrate writing skills and/or require students to select, organize and explain ideas in writing.
