COURSE CONTENT

Outcomes and Objectives:

Upon completion of the course, students will be able to:

- 1. Relate lecture materials, audio-visual presentations and textual readings into a coherent base for study of history.
- 2. Recognize that history is not dogma; that it is a process of interaction between factual sources and those who interpret them.
- 3. Demonstrate critical thinking and analytical skills in a series of objective tests, written examinations and critical papers that probe Latin America's past.
- 4. Apply historical learning to in-class discussions of past controversies and contemporary concerns.
- 5. Integrate geographic knowledge with historical study--the human story moves through both time and space.
- 6. Identify and employ atypical and non-traditional source materials such as fiction, music, cinema and sport to study Latin American popular culture.
- 7. Examine the contributions of women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other under represented groups to the formulation of Latin American ideals and institutions.
- 8. Question their own values and popular myths, as well as conventional historical analysis.
- 9. Synthesize the ideas of past and current historians and (from this synthesis) develop their own means of addressing fundamental historical questions of causation and consequence.

- 10. Debate the claim that the heritage and institutions of Latin America are to some degree unique and explore the causational rationale that underwrites this alleged uniqueness.
- 11. Recognize that informational and interpretive knowledge of Latin American history can be programatically employed in everyday life as an individual and as a citizen.
