COURSE CONTENT

Outcomes and Objectives:

The primary objective of this course is to provide the student with the knowledge and skills necessary to meet the physical and psychological demands necessary for intercollegiate competition.

At the completion of the course, students will be able to be proficient in the following:

1. Develop an understanding for and proficiency in the physical demands necessary for intercollegiate competition.
2. Implement a regular training regimen in order to fully refine and develop the specific skills required for event performance.
3. Participate in an increasingly strenuous conditioning program necessary for effective and successful participation.
4. Display proficiency in distance running through proper training and effective coaching techniques.
5. Develop an understanding of the strategies and psychological techniques involved in effective team and individual competition.
6. Develop a clear understanding of the rules and regulations which dictate each selected event and the sport, in general.
7. Participate in a variety of invitational, conference, and non-conference competitions.
8. Understand and display a proficiency in the mental and physical preparation in pre-competition warm-up and competition strategy.
9. Develop a pattern of physical training and interest in the sport which will encourage life time involvement.
10. Acquire an appreciation for excellent performance in this sport as well as the innate ability and developed skills and specific demands necessary for competition at its highest level.
