COURSE CONTENT

Outcomes and Objectives:

In order to achieve these learning outcomes, during the course the student will:

- 1. Apply perceptual acuity through rendering and design skills.
- 2. Research the social, historical, political, artistic, and theatrical background of a script.
- 3. Collaborate effectively with others in achieving a common goal, demonstrating communication skills, ethical practices, and responsibility to others.
- 4. Analyze a work of dramatic literature, including the genre, theme, and style, and apply that analysis to design elements.
- 5. Synthesize script analysis, design elements, research results, and collaborative feedback into a cohesive design.

Topics and Scope:

- I. Introduction to Theatre Design and Technology
 - A. Principles of design (line, mass, color, texture, etc.)
 - B. Design and Technology Areas and Personnel
 - 1. Scenery
 - 2. Properties
 - 3. Costume
 - 4. Makeup and hair
 - 5. Lighting/visual effects

- 6. Sound/composition
- II. Theatre Architecture and Theatrical Spaces
 - A. Short history
 - B. Audience configurations
 - C. Theatre buildings and found spaces
 - D. Working spaces within a theatre
- III. The Design Process of Designer/Director Collaboration
 - A. Interpreting a script
 - B. Working from the original concept
 - C. Outlining a research path
 - D. Communication tools and techniques
 - E. Developing a cohesive vision
- IV. Script Analysis
 - A. Genre
 - B. Style
 - C. Theme
 - D. Plot Structure
 - E. Language
 - F. Other dramatic elements as appropriate for design emphasis
- V. Research Methodology for the Design Process
 - A. Research resources
 - 1. Print sources
 - 2. Internet and electronic sources
 - 3. Field research
 - B. Types of research
 - 1. Primary
 - 2. Secondary
 - 3. Evocative (or inspirational)
 - C. Formulating a research path identifying the questions to ask
 - D. Essential areas of comprehensive research
 - 1. The playwright
 - 2. The world of the play (time period, location, social, political, etc.)
 - 3. Genre, style and mood of the play
- VI. Conceptualization and Communicating a Design Vision
 - A. Shaping an initial design vision
 - B. Visual and/or aural aids used in communicating a design vision
 - 1. Brainstorm quick sketches in collaborative sessions
 - 2. Creation of design plans, (floor plans, elevations, models, props, costume and makeup renderings, light plots, demo CDs)
 - 3. Computer aided rendering modes
 - C. Justifying design choices through script analysis and/or research
- VII. Collaborating with Others in the Design Process
 - A. Time management and working relationships
 - 1. Organizing the work
 - 2. Maintaining open communication
 - 3. Working with the shop and stage managers
 - 4. Observing rehearsals
 - 5. Adapting when the plan changes
 - B. Preparing for collaborative meetings
 - 1. What to prepare for production meetings
 - 2. What to bring to the discussion with the director
 - C. Communication skills in the design process

- 1. Listening skills, assertiveness, and brainstorming
- 2. Group dynamics and negotiating skills
- 3. Conflict resolution
- D. Work ethic, professionalism, and responsibilities to others
- E. Synthesizing and "re-visioning"
- VIII. Introduction to the Business of Theatre Design
 - A. Brief introduction to portfolio development
 - B. Pursuing a career in theatre design

Assignment:

As a 2-hour lecture/3-hour laboratory course, students will complete approx. 4 hours of homework per week relating to the assignments listed below.

The following assignments will be performed in conjunction with hypothetical and/or fully realized design projects*. Assignments will include:

- 1. As a member of a collaborative team, the student will create two or more design projects. Each must be from a different play and one must incorporate non-realistic elements. As part of these projects the student will:
 - A. Read two plays
 - B. Formulate a research path; conduct comprehensive research relating to the play and design vision
 - C. Complete two written script analyses (one per project)
 - D. Complete renderings and/or other communication tools (such as models, CDs, floor plans, etc.)

Project grades will be divided into two categories:

Problem-Solving - Analysis, research, and conceptualization Skill Demonstration - Collaborative process, application of design communication techniques, and presentation skills

- 2. One Summary Statement (500-word essay on one of the two design projects)
- 3. Maintain standards of professionalism (includes timely attendance at all classes, meetings and rehearsals relating to the course/projects, respectful communication, adaptability to practical and stylistic limitations, and meeting deadlines)
- 4. Assemble all course work into a course portfolio

This course may also include one or more of the following additional assignments:

- 1. Attendance at one three Theatre Arts productions; possible 1-2 pg. written critiques of the design elements
- 2. Observation of a production rehearsal and/or production meeting; possible 1 pg. written report
- 3. Two five written quizzes on plays and/or supplemental reading
- 4. One three interactive quizzes on computer aided rendering and/or other design communication techniques
- 5. Preparation of a gallery display for design competition (American College Theatre Festival, etc.)
- * Realized projects for SRJC productions are assigned through successful application to the Theatre Arts Department Chair (normally at the end of the previous spring semester). Other off-campus project proposals must have prior approval from the instructor.

Methods of Evaluation/Basis of Grade:

Writing: Assessment tools that demonstrate writing skills and/or require students to select, organize and explain ideas in writing.

Summary Statement; Script analyses; Critiques of plays; observation reports

Writing 5 - 20%

Problem Solving: Assessment tools, other than exams, that demonstrate competence in computational or non-computational problem solving skills.

Design projects - analysis, research and conceptualizing

Problem solving 25 - 40%

Skill Demonstrations: All skill-based and physical demonstrations used for assessment purposes including skill performance exams.

Design projects - collaboration, communication techiques, and presentation

Skill Demonstrations 30 - 40%

Exams: All forms of formal testing, other than skill performance exams.

Quizzes - written and/or interactive

Exams 0 - 10%

Other: Includes any assessment tools that do not logically fit into the above categories.

Professionalism; course design portfolio

Other Category 10 - 20%
