COURSE CONTENT

Student Learning Outcomes:

At the conclusion of this course, the student should be able to:

1. Prepare, rehearse, and perform material from plays requiring non-realistic styles, period realism, and/or specialized performance skills at a beginning level.
2. Adapt their character development process and performance techniques to meet the needs of a play's specific style, period, and/or specialized performance demands at a beginning level.
3. Identify and explain major historical, literary, and cultural forces that shaped the development of a play's specific style and/or period, as well as the relationship of those forces to the acting techniques required.

Objectives:

At the conclusion of this course, the student should be able to:

1. Demonstrate performance skills through a variety of non-realistic acting styles, period realism, and/or plays requiring specialized performance skills (e.g. dialects, unarmed combat, period movement, etc.) at a beginning acting level.
2. Identify the influence of historical events, literature and culture on the theatrical practices of various periods.
3. Analyze and score scripts, applying style-appropriate and/or period-appropriate techniques.
4. Conduct research and text analysis in preparation for roles from styles and periods of plays.
5. Translate basic acting theories and analytical concepts into practical application through performance interpretations.
6. Create and sustain the distinct physical, vocal, and behavioral components of multiple characters, while adapting to the performance requirements of specific styles, periods, and/or special performance techniques.
7. Revise and enhance acting choices, objectively incorporating the feedback of others,

- and utilizing the rehearsal process as a period of creative exploration.
8. Define individual acting obstacles and determine individual strengths.
  9. Critique the work of others, utilizing terms and concepts relating to the specific style, period, and/or specialized skill being performed.

Topics and Scope:

I. Introduction to Period and Non-Realistic Acting Styles

- A. Defining style
- B. Researching a style or period
- C. Personal acting development when studying styles and periods

II. Introduction to Acting Standards of Professionalism

III. Introduction of Style Units:

Each time the course is offered, three different styles will be studied and performed, selected by the instructor using the following criteria:

- At least one non-realistic style, preferably two
(e.g. Greek, Kabuki, Commedia dell'Arte, Farce, Comedy of Manners, Absurdism, Brechtian, Post Modernism, Political Satire, etc.)
- At least one from a period prior to the mid-20th century
(preferably one that requires period manners and movement)
- At least one comedic style
- At least one dramatic or tragic style
- At least one should require a special performance skill
(e.g. dialects, unarmed combat, playing a disability, interview-based, etc.)

Each style unit may focus on material from a single representative play, an individual playwright's body of work, or works by multiple playwrights. A record of past units taught is kept on file by the department.

VI. Performing Non-Realistic Styles

- A. Historical and/or theoretical context
- B. Script and character analysis
- C. Vocal characterization within the style
- D. Physical characterization within the style

    - 2. Maintaining consistency and focus
    - 3. Handling nerves
    - 4. Handling audience responses
    - 5. Handling the unexpected

All topics above are covered in the lecture and lab portions of the course. Topics are introduced during lecture instruction and actively expanded upon during lab instruction.

Assignment:

1. Participation in group exercises during course of study. Exercises may include:
  - A. Discussions of acting theory based on assigned readings
  - B. Improvisations and style exercises
  - C. Vocal exercises for clarity, projection, dialect and style
  - D. Physical exercises for relaxation, flexibility, and control
  - E. Period movement and manners
2. Performance Assignments:

The student will perform a scene and/or monologue for each of the three units of study for the course, each assignment demonstrating an understanding and competence in the specific acting style and/or specialized acting skill. Each scene or monologue will be performed within a time limit suitable for inclusion in the Showcase (scenes - approx. 2-5 minutes; monologues - approx. 1-2 minutes).
3. Read 3 plays (one for each performance assignment), as well as supporting material for each unit, as assigned. (Optional: Instructor may give one-three short quizzes to assess reading comprehension).

4. Written Assignments for Each Unit: The student will complete written analysis assignments for each unit, conducting research, answering character and script analysis questions, and completing some form of script scoring. These may be individual assignments and/or collaborative assignments with scene/team partners. While assignment length varies according to the unit's style, period, or skill focus, most require approx. 1000-1500 words per unit. Depending on the requirements of a specific unit, students may also complete dialect scoring, scansion, interview transcription, translation comparisons, or other preparation tasks.
5. Showcase Preparation - Students are registered for the course corequisite, THAR 13.1AL, which encompasses the evening rehearsals and performances for the course's public Showcase. In preparation, students spend the last weeks of THAR 13.1A participating in the Showcase planning process - working with the instructor to select Showcase material from the semester's work, reviewing and polishing that material, making additional cuts, learning/rehearsing new material (when necessary), and completing related planning tasks.
6. Attend two Theatre Arts Department productions (free ticket voucher provided). Participate in class discussion regarding the style and acting demands within each production and their relationship to course content. (Cast and crew members are still able to meet this assignment.)
7. Professionalism and Attendance
Adhere to the following standards of acting professionalism throughout the course:
  - A. Arrive promptly and prepared for all class meetings, outside rehearsals, and performances.
  - B. Maintain an amiable and supportive attitude when interacting with other members of the performance ensemble.
  - C. Participate actively in class discussions and exercises.
  - D. Work collaboratively with scene partners.
  - E. Perform each role in a conscientious and dedicated manner.
  - F. Respectfully follow director's instructions in Showcase preparation and maintain that direction in performance.
  - G. Strive to maintain good health and safety practices.
  - H. Follow the terms of the course syllabus.
8. Optional Assignment: Attend 1-2 professional productions in the style(s) being studied. Discounted group tickets will be arranged; students provide their own transportation. Students unable to attend the performance, either with the group or independently, may be given a suitable alternative assignment (such as viewing a filmed production in the same style).

All assignments above apply to both the lecture and lab portions of the course.
