COURSE CONTENT

Student Learning Outcomes:

At the conclusion of this course, the student should be able to:

1. Prepare, rehearse, and perform material from plays requiring non-realistic styles, period realism and/or specialized performance skills at a beginning level for a public audience.
2. Adapt their character development process and performance techniques to meet the needs of a play's specific style, period, and/or specialized performance demands at a beginning level.

Objectives:

At the conclusion of this course, the student should be able to:

1. Demonstrate performance skills acquired throughout the semester through a variety of non-realistic acting styles, period realism and/or plays requiring specialized performance skills (e.g. dialects, unarmed combat, period movement, etc.) at a beginning acting level in a public performance.
2. Translate basic acting theories and analytical concepts into practical application through performance interpretations in a public performance.
3. Create and sustain the distinct physical, vocal, and behavioral components of multiple characters, while adapting to the performance requirements of specific styles, periods, and/or special techniques in a public performance.
4. Revise and enhance acting choices, objectively incorporating the feedback of others, and utilizing the rehearsal process as a period of creative exploration in preparation for a public performance.
5. Define individual acting obstacles and determine individual strengths in preparation for public performance.

6. Critique the work of others, utilizing terms and concepts relating to the specific style, period, and/or specialized skill being performed.
7. Support the throughline of a composite showcase by sustaining energy, focus, and pacing, as well as creatively interpreting transitional business.
8. Work cooperatively and professionally within a high-stress environment to produce a collaborative work of art for public performance.
